

Universidad Cooperativa
de Colombia

Mission

Universidad Cooperativa de Colombia is a higher education institution that is founded in the social economy. We educate competent people to respond to the world's dynamics and contribute to construction and diffusion of knowledge. We also support the country's competitive development through its organizations and seek the improvement of quality of life in communities influenced by the social economy that originated us.

Vision

By 2022, we will be a teaching/research university recognized as one of the most important higher education institutions in the country. Our activities will be oriented toward excellence and our processes will be certified nationally and internationally. Our human staff will be competent and will be supported by an innovative management model based on our own physical and technological infrastructure. We will be committed to the construction of areas for personal and professional development for the University community and we will be opened to the world.

INDESCO

Institute of Social Economy and Cooperativism

It is a national institute that helps to strengthen culture, cooperative practice and solidarity economy through the development of research, education and social projection of universities, at a national and international context.

Research

This Institute contributes to the generation, management and the dissemination of scientific knowledge aimed at the development and innovation of solidarity economy through research networks.

Education

It leads educational thinking on social training as a contribution to collective transformation. It integrates approaches, learning environments and innovative contents for the development of relevant skills to university professionals, communities, organizations and local companies.

Solidarity entrepreneurship and social innovation

Through solidarity entrepreneurship and social innovation services, some activities are developed to allow the creation and consolidation of associative articulated sustainable and developed companies from the Colombian regions.

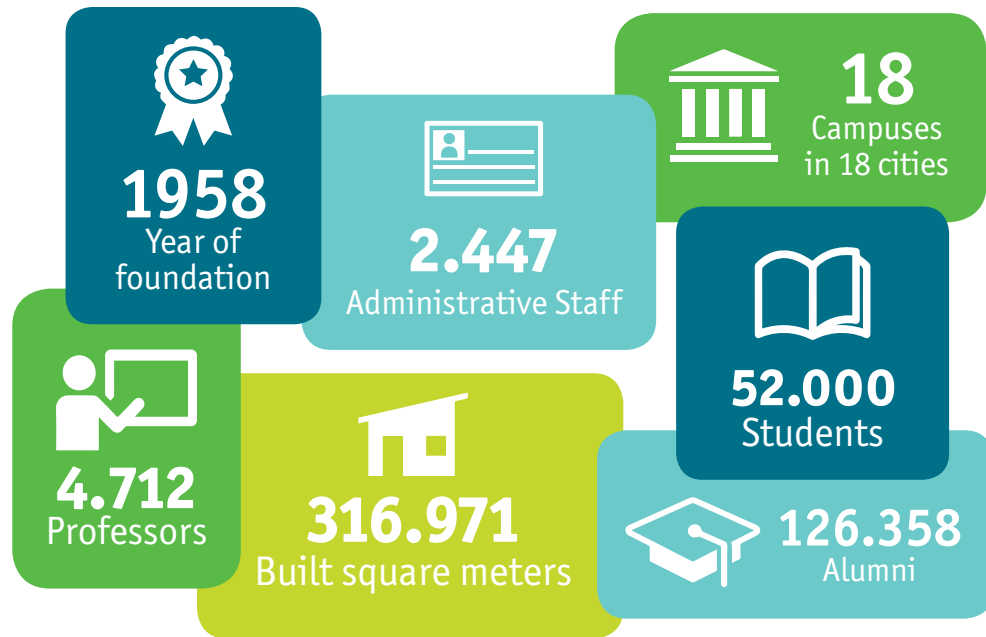

Cooperativismo y Desarrollo Journal

This is an indexed journal that has been published since 1975; it publishes articles of reflexion and research and also the review of literature on the following topics:

- Solidarity and social economy.
